What did you learn?

The team members learnt how to write stories.

Key takeaways:

It is mandatory to keep checking the stories written by students since the process began in May and concluded in August. A few students lost track of their story although they were reminded every week.

How is it relevant to your school context?

Preparing for future story writers and story tellers.

How will you apply it with students in the classroom/beyond?

Writing and publishing their own stories.

What could have been better?

If the students could complete their stories well in advance.

What was done well?

Planning, organizing, and execution of the event was done well.

Do you have any suggestion?

We should involve students to write in Hindi Language as well.
